

Judge Bans Coal Strike For 80 Days By Injunction

Washington, April 21 (AP)—Judge T. Alan Goldsborough today issued a ban against a soft-coal strike for about 80 days.

This injunction replaces a temporary court order which John L. Lewis was found guilty of violating. It was Lewis' disregard for the temporary order which brought him a $20,000 fine personally and the United Mine Workers a $1,400,000 one yesterday for contempt.

Lewis still faces the possibility of further fines, or even jail, on a contempt count and has telegraphed the miners his wish that they get back to work.

Public Interest "In Peril"

Goldsborough approved the injunction on the plea of a government attorney that "the public interest remains in peril" and a strike still exists.

Lewis' lawyers fought against it with the argument that there is now no strike and that the injunction, issued under the Taft-Hartley law which is unconstitutional. The Justice Department presented coal association officials who testified that many thousands of miners were idle as late as yesterday.

A possible further major development in the whole coal situation was hinted. Ezra Van Horn, who represented mine operators in long negotiations with Lewis over miners' pensions, called a news conference for 1 p. m. (EST).

Dates Uncertain

Goldsborough said he thinks the government is right—that the "national peace and safety are still in peril"—and said he had "no difficulty" in deciding to issue the injunction.

The injunction was issued under the Taft-Hartley law which permits an 80-day ban on a strike when a labor dispute threatens the national health and safety.

The starting date and closing date for the 80 days was not immediately determined. The injunction itself bears no termination date.

Government lawyers said the 80 days should start when the court's orders have been complied with and the strike ends. They added this date is still uncertain because there still is a strike.

Response Is Slow

Pittsburgh, April 21 (AP)—Soft coal miners were slow to respond today to John L. Lewis' appeal for a work return, particularly in the rich west. (Please Turn to Page Two)

54 CANADIAN OFFICIALS ON TOUR OF 'FIELD

Fifty-four Canadian government officials and municipal and town representatives from the Ottawa region, riding in two large buses, were in Gettysburg for luncheon Tuesday noon and toured the battlefield here as a part of an inspection trip which covered New York, Philadelphia and Washington.

They were en route home on their Gettysburg stop, intending to spend Tuesday night at Binghamton, N. Y.

The group has been studying planning and parkway developments in the Eastern United States, particularly in regard to planning a large parkway region in the Ottawa area. With the party was Haldane A. Cram, secretary of the Canadian government's federal district commission; Grenville W. Goodwin, who was in charge of the tour and is a member of the National Capital Planning commission; and Jacques Greber, chief consultant of the group. Mr. Greber designed Fairmont Parkway in Philadelphia, was a consultant on the New York World's Fair, and has formulated plans for Rouen, Lille, Calais and other cities in France.

Others in the group, in addition to technicians, architects and engineers, were representatives of the municipal councils of the cities of Ottawa and Hull and adjacent townships and officials and architects from the Ottawa planning area board.

After leaving Ottawa, the party visited Albany, N. Y., inspected the Bear Mountain park and parkway and consulted with the Westchester County Parks commission. Arriving in New York city they inspected the Long Island parkway system before leaving for Philadelphia to inspect the Fairmont parkway. Stops were also made at Wilmington, Del., to see the Brandywine park development before going on to Washington. After conferring with the National Capital Park and Planning committee, the group left for Gettysburg, stopping here to look over the Gettysburg National park.

COMMISSIONERS TO CONFER ON JAIL PROBLEMS

The Adams county commissioners today asked the state Department of Welfare for a conference in which to iron out the problem of what to do with prisoners while waiting to take them to the Harrisburg jail.

The problem was raised Tuesday when C. T. Woutersz, special investigator and senior prison inspector of the Department of Welfare, Bureau of Corrections, learned that the county has been using the condemned local jail as a "reception center" for prisoners before removing them to the Dauphin county prison.

Pointing out that the state frowns on any use of the jail here after condemnation, Woutersz met with Commissioners' Clerk Clarence C. Smith and other county officials to discuss the possibility that some other arrangements might be worked out. The invitation extended by the commissioners today asks for a meeting between local and state officials to discuss an agreement concerning the holding of prisoners.

Not County Responsibility

Local officials pointed out today that some sort of reception center is necessary for prisoners here, despite use of the Dauphin county jail as a place to keep prisoners. A prisoner might be brought in while the sheriff is en route to Harrisburg with another prisoner and thus there would be a waiting period before the second prisoner could be removed to Harrisburg. Or a defendant might be brought in late at night in a drunken condition which would prevent a long auto trip to Harrisburg.

Woutersz told county officials that actually it is the responsibility of townships and boroughs to take care of their prisoners rather than the responsibility of the county which for years has been providing that service.

Hope for Extension

County officials added that the Dauphin county prison will receive only prisoners brought in by the sheriff of the county and as a result even if there were lock-ups in the county sufficient to handle the problem, the sheriff would still have to take the prisoners to Harrisburg.

The problem is complicated, it was pointed out, by the fact that no county borough is maintaining a lock-up. Several boroughs have lock-ups which have not been used for years and which have for the most part been closed because of deterioration, and lack of facilities necessary for approval as lock-ups.

County officials hope to reach an agreement with the state department permitting continuation of the present practice of using the old jail as a reception center until the new jail is completed this summer. At present a guard is maintained at the jail whenever a prisoner is in it so that the prisoner can easily be removed in event of fire or other danger.

Saturday Last Day For Poster Entries

All entries in the health poster contest held by the Adams County Medical Society must be in the office of Dr. Roy W. Gifford, 103 West Middle street, on or before Saturday, the society announced today.

Judges for the contest, Dr. A. C. Richards, president of the county medical society; Walter R. Doud, administrator of the Warner hospital; and Walter Lane, local photographer, will then begin their study of the posters to determine three winners in each of three age groups.

A $5 first prize, $3 second prize and $2 third prize is being offered in each age group and the winners in those contests will have their posters entered in the state health poster contest, Dr. Gifford announced. The winners of the state Medical Society contest will be entered in the national contest at Chicago.

BOARDS OKAY ARTICLES FOR N.O. JOINTURE

Articles of agreement for a jointure of school districts in the New Oxford area were approved Tuesday night at a meeting in the New Oxford high school.

Five school districts reported that they have signed resolutions to enter the jointure, while three other districts said they had not yet made their decision as to what jointure they will enter.

Those that signed were Hamilton, Berwick, Mt. Pleasant and Oxford townships, and New Oxford borough. Those reported as still undecided were Abbottstown, Conewago and Straban.

To Sign May 11

All of the board were directed to report at another meeting May 11 at New Oxford. At that session those boards ready to go ahead will sign the articles of agreement while the others are asked to report at that time what their plans might be in regard to the New Oxford or other jointures. The information is needed by the county board for the county plan which must be drawn up by the county board this summer. County Superintendent J. Floyd Slaybaugh told the group.

All members of the county board were present for Tuesday's session at New Oxford. Whatever decisions are reached by the boards at the various meetings held throughout the county will be utilized to make up the county plan for enlarged attendance areas which must be forwarded to the State Department of Education for approval. It was pointed out.

Luther E. Jacobs, Gettysburg R. 3, first vice president of the county board, was elected temporary chairman to conduct the joint session of the boards at New Oxford Tuesday evening. Raymond M. Baugher, New Oxford, secretary of the county board, was named as temporary secretary.

JUNIOR POLICE OPEN THURSDAY

Junior police baseball and softball activities will begin Thursday with a practice baseball game between members of the Junior police who are not members of the high school squad and a team from the Gettysburg News Agency.

Most of the members of last year's teams were out for the organization session. The group plans to hold its games and practices at Cozori Field, the site used last year.

A midge league is to be formed as well as a Junior league and softball loops are to be organized in the near future, it was announced.

No date was set for the next meeting, with most of the organization within the next few weeks to be effected by members while at Codori field for practices.

Call The FBI, Dick Tracy! There's Been A "Murder!" Who Ordered Tree Removed?

Who ordered the maple tree in Center Square cut down?

That's the question that is baffling borough authorities today and there is no solution, as yet.

Here are the facts The Times uncovered today.

Several years ago Henry M. Scharf, manager of the Hotel Gettysburg, asked the borough to remove the tree because many out-of-town guests had filed complaints, especially against the damage to cars and clothing from starlings in the tree. The borough fathers declined.

Since that time many protests have been filed with town council against the same nuisance as well as the nuisance from the tree in front of Dougherty and Hartley's store on Baltimore street. Council took no action.

Tree-Fellers Arrive

Recently Mr. Scharf again asked the borough to remove the tree and agreed to pay whatever costs were involved.

Tuesday afternoon, while Mr. Scharf was absent from the city, a crew of workmen from Hanover, under the supervision of D. J. Eolin, arrived in town and announced that they had been ordered to "trim one tree in Center Square and remove the second." When they were about to cut down the Baltimore street tree they were stopped and told that the tree was not to be removed but that it could be trimmed. It was.

Laboring under the assumption that the tree in front of the Hotel Gettysburg was to be removed the crew attempted to contact councilmen and Engineer Winebrenner but to no avail. Hotel employees could not enlighten them further. The Hanover crew assumed that "it" was the tree to be removed and so they chopped it down.

No sooner was the tree down than borough authorities appeared from all sides and protested. The tree-fellers could not state who had telephoned the order to them from Gettysburg nor could they determine which tree was to be trimmed and which removed. However, the tree was down and they wanted to be paid for their work.

When Mr. Scharf returned to Gettysburg about 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon he saw that the tree had been removed. He assumed that council had granted his request to remove the tree, although he had not been so informed. He had not received a reply to his last request.

When the workmen submitted their bill Mr. Scharf paid . . . the neat little sum of $24.

Borough authorities are at a loss to know who ordered the tree removed.

No one seems to know.

Humpert was fatally beaten at his farm home in Tyrone township the night of March 24, 1947. Simmons and Robert Staley, both of Mechanicsburg, were convicted of the murder. Staley is serving a life sentence.

Littlestown PFC. MEHRING'S RITES SATURDAY IN LITTLESTOWN

The body of Pfc. David C. Mehring, who was wounded in action and died in Normandy, June 17, 1944, will arrive in Littlestown on Friday morning.

Pfc. Mehring resided on Lumber street, Littlestown, prior to his induction into service. Before entering the service, he was employed by the Ordnance Department at Mechanicsburg.

Mehring was inducted into service December 8, 1942, at New Cumberland. He was a machine gunner in the 99th Infantry. From New Cumberland, he went to Camp Vandorn, Mississippi; from there to Camp Maxey, Texas and on April 2, 1944, he was sent overseas. He was hospitalized for a short time prior to his death, although the place of hospitalization is unknown.

Need 19 Men

"The troop needs only 19 more enlistments to reach its required strength," he said.

Tuesday night was "pay day" at the armory for members of Troop A.

"Privates who have attended all the drills for the first quarter of the year will receive $30," Col. Fletcher said. "This required only two hours of their time one night a week," he said. "This ought to be an inducement to any young man to join the National Guard. If there were no other reasons for joining."

He urged the troop to take part in parades and acquaint the public with its equipment. He was informed of plans being made for the troop's participation in the Memorial Day parade. The retreat ceremony, open house and dance held at the armory on Army Day won his commendation.

USED CAR PRICES AGAIN AT PEAK

The price of used automobiles, which dropped since the first of the year as much as 25 per cent have gone back to the 1946-1947 top level again within the last 30 days because of the shortage of new automobiles, several new and used car dealers in Gettysburg said today.

Most of them were loath to predict that the price of second-hand cars would go higher, although they admitted that it was possible with any protracted inactivity in the coal fields and a continued shortage of pig iron and steel.

"I don't see how they can go higher," one used car dealer said, "but they're not going to come down."

Dealers said that prices for used cars had been "crazy" since the war, but that about January 1 they started to drop, with increased production of new automobiles.

Then the coal and steel shortages hit the car manufacturers, dealers began to get fewer and fewer new cars and consequently fewer trade-ins, and owners continued to drive their old models. The 25 per cent reduction in used car prices since January 1 was wiped out and prices went back where they were, dealers said.

Several dealers said their allotment of new automobiles had been cut in half recently.

New Oxford Signs New Music Teacher

For the past five years Miss Greiman has been teaching in several school districts near New Oxford. She is secretary-treasurer of the Adams County Music Teachers association.

GUARD MAY GET EXTENSION TO SEEK RECRUITS

Indications that Troop A of the 104th cavalry, the Gettysburg and Adams county National Guard unit, will receive a 90-day extension of federal approval in which to reach its enlistment strength were given Tuesday night following an inspection of the troop by Col. William T. Fletcher, executive officer to the senior instructor, U. S. Regular Army, Indianawagon Gap, and instructor of the 104th.

"The troop is under strength," Col. Fletcher said. "However, it is gaining rapidly, and I hope the young men of this community take the necessary steps to join the guard unit before enlistments here are closed."

Accompanying Col. Fletcher on the trip of inspection here was Major Clair J. Stouffer, a member of the National Guard in Harrisburg. Both Col. Fletcher and Major Stouffer praised the work done by Lieutenant William G. Weaver, New Oxford, commanding officer of the local troop, in enlisting men in the guard unit.

Praises Local Men

"The armory here is one of the best in the state," Major Stouffer said, "and is ideally located in a section which should furnish plenty of men for the National Guard." Major Stouffer praised the condition in which the armory was found and the work done by non-commissioned officers and members of the troop in maintaining the troop's equipment.

In complimenting Lt. Weaver on the increase in enlistments here, Col. Fletcher pointed out that when the troop went to camp last August it had only 21 members. In February of this year its numbers had risen to 27, and the enrollment now is 39, he said.

Need 19 Men

"The troop needs only 19 more enlistments to reach its required strength," he said.

Tuesday night was "pay day" at the armory for members of Troop A.

McGee, Ridge avenue, who is recuperating from a heart attack suffered several weeks ago while smoking meals in the building in the rear of Pitzer's apartments, Chambersburg street.

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll McGee left this morning to attend the funeral services.

WEANER HEADS BREEDERS' UNIT

Edgar Weaner, Gettysburg R. 4, was elected president of the Adams County Holstein Breeders' Association Tuesday evening at an organization meeting held by the breeders in the county agricultural extension offices in the court house.

Walter Hay was named vice president. Irvin Hostetter, secretary-treasurer and Bess Brown and H. R. Grove, directors.

The group will meet April 28 to discuss plans for further activities. Committees to be appointed include Junior project, membership, shows and sales and program.

William Rider, York, fieldman for the Pennsylvania Holstein Breeders' Association, assisted in organizing the county group and made a number of suggestions of program activities.

Among the planned activities of the club are to assist its members in registration and herd problems and in the selection of foundation stock. It also plans to assist in the buying and selling of cattle and to cooperate with extension service and vocational agriculture activities. It plans to cooperate with the 4-H clubs and FFA in promoting junior project activities and to work with state and national associations for the improvement of the Holstein breed.

COUNTY BOARD WILL ATTEND LOCAL MEETING

The Adams County Board of School Directors accepted an invitation to attend a Gettysburg school board meeting Thursday at the local high school among other routine matters attended to at a brief meeting held in the New Oxford high school Tuesday night.

With Luther M. Lady, president of the board presiding, the members approved of tuition rate calculations for Abbottstown, Berwick, Conewago, Cumberland, Germany, Hamilton, Highland, Reading and York Springs and then approved bills for such things as the examination papers for the sixth and eighth grade tests to be held in the near future.

Discuss Medical Care

The possibility of paying for medical care of a young school girl whose cheek was punctured by another youngster at the Hunterstown school was discussed with no final action taken, pending conversations with the Straban board.

Attorney J. Francis Yake, Jr., said that no liability for such injury could be attributed to the school board but pointed out the danger that the board in making the payment might assume some liability in future cases or in the event someone might care to bring suit for further damage.

It was decided that if the township board wishes to pay the hospital and medical costs of $59.50 it could do so by making a donation to a fund for medical care held by the county board and then have the county board pay the bill through the special fund thus taking care of the bill without incurring liability or setting a precedent.

The county board also approved plans for the North Adams school district to add two rooms to the present high school building at York Springs. The approval was necessary before contracts could be let.

FOUND GUILTY OF HIT-RUN BY JURY TUESDAY

The April term of court—with the exception of sentence court Saturday morning—came to an end Tuesday afternoon when a jury brought in a verdict of guilty against Elliott Taylor, Gettysburg R. 3, on a hit-and-run charge.

That case was the last to be heard in the current term and at its close the jurors were dismissed. A brief session of current business followed and then court adjourned until Saturday when about 25 defendants will be sentenced.

There was little difference between testimony of the prosecution and the defense in the Taylor case with Taylor's main argument being that he did not know any damage occurred when his car struck a parked vehicle of Harry Slaybaugh, Gettysburg R. 3, along the Mummaburg-Hunterstown road near Van Dyke's on the morning of January 15.

Slaybaugh testified that his car had caught fire and that he had stopped on the highway. Taylor, who lives near Slaybaugh, struck the Slaybaugh car in passing, Slaybaugh said.

Struck By Car

Robert Walker, who was standing in front of the Slaybaugh car looking at the motor, said he was struck by Taylor's car as it passed and that he suffered an injured knee. The force of the blow was not sufficient to tear the knee of the trousers, he said, but added that his knee was scratched and was "sore for some time after."

Damage to the Slaybaugh machine was described as a bent license, scraped bumper and a scraped fender.

Taylor admitted driving along the road and said he stopped on signal and then passed when given a signal to go ahead. He was driving in low gear as he passed and heard a slight scraping sound as if the cars had touched as he passed, Taylor said

REUTHER SHOT IN KITCHEN OF HOME; SERIOUS

Detroit, April 21 (AP)—The CIO

United Auto Workers today placed a $100,000 price on the head of the stealthy gunman who tried in vain to kill Walter R. Reuther.

Their reward offer followed one for $10,000 by the city of Detroit, launched on a great manhunt for the assailant who fired a shotgun into Reuther's kitchen Tuesday night.

Detroit, April 21 (AP)—The CIO's Walter P. Reuther escaped death at a gunman's hand last night.

A mysterious assailant, creeping to a lighted kitchen window of the auto unionist's home, fired a shotgun blast at Reuther, inflicting serious arm and chest wounds.

Early today, as doctors reported Reuther out of danger, a battery of Detroit's police and top detectives followed slim clues in a search for one or two men in the assault.

Simultaneously Reuther's highest associates in the UAW pledged their aid to police, calling a special meeting of the executive board for that purpose.

"Management, Reds or Screwball?" "We'll spend any amount of money to clear this up," said Secretary-Treasurer Emil Mazy. "We'll get the guy who did it if we have to turn the whole town upside down."

For a time it was feared that Reuther, fiery president of the CIO's United Auto Workers, might lose his right arm, shattered by several slugs. Reuther himself, according to Prosecutor James N. McNally, blamed "management, Communists or a screwball." However, the prosecutor said Reuther "wasn't much help on what happened."

The 40-year-old, red-haired, aggressive UAW leader has long been an avowed foe of Communism.

Wife Unhurt
Currently his big auto union, which speaks for nearly 1,000,000 workers of the car plants, is pressing its new spring wage increase demand on the industry.

The injury to the UAW's chief left in question meanwhile the extent to which he can take part in his union's wage drive. Doctors said he would be hospitalized perhaps for weeks.

Reuther was shot a few minutes after returning home from a meeting of the UAW international executive board.

As he stood at a refrigerator in the breakfast nook of his home on the Northwest Side, a blast was fired through a window four or five feet from him. Reuther's wife, Mae, who had helped him prepare a snack before they were to retire, was out of the line of fire.

State CIO Council Condemns Court Fine

Philadelphia, April 21 (AP)—Contempt of court fines against John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers drew bitter resentment at the Pennsylvania CIO Industrial Union Council convention in session here.

Some 750 delegates representing 600,000 CIO members cheered yesterday as Charles Nuell of a Pittsburgh United Electrical Workers local demanded an immediate resolution condemning "the action levelled against Lewis and the United Mine Workers."

Council President Harry Boyer said Nuell's motion was "not in order of business" but would be dealt with "because of the unusual set of circumstances that surround the issue."

The convention then voted unanimously to instruct its resolutions committee to bring out a resolution "against the recent court decision" involving Lewis and UMW.

STAKE TUESDAY

Harrisburg, April 21 (AP)—Seats of four incumbent state Senators and 81 members of the state House of Representatives are directly at stake in the April 27 primary.

All face opposition within the party as they come before Pennsylvania voters with bids to return to the General Assembly. Voters will pick nominees for 25 Senate seats and 208 House places. Seats in only half of the state's 50 Senatorial districts come up for decision in 1948.

Lacking opposition, another 14 Senators and 98 Assemblymen are virtually assured a place on the November 2 general election ballot. Similarly an additional 20 Senatorial and 129 House candidates have free sailing in the primary election. They are, however, non-incumbents.

A county by county breakdown of the local ballot indicates 25 Senate fights within either the Republican or Democratic parties. Intra-party contests for the House total 180.

Highlighting the local battles is an intensive campaign underway in Dauphin county. Independent Republicans are out to oust State Senator M. Harvey Taylor, Republican State Chairman.

Walter M. Mumma, Harrisburg building supplies contractor, is opposing Taylor for the Senate seat as standard-bearer of the Clean Government committee. Mumma also has a slate of four House candidates in opposition to a quartet supported by Taylor's organization.

United Mine Workers district officials were hopeful, however, that normal operation of the pits was not far off.

"It's not a very good picture today," said a spokesman for the western Pennsylvania Coal Operators' Association. "There is considerably more idleness than yesterday. We have only about 5,500 men (10 per cent of normal production crews) at work today. We figured about 150,000 tons of coal yesterday but if production gets past 35,000 or 40,000 tons today we'll be lucky."

THE BY-PATHS

You don't see a country by the main roads—but by means of the by-paths, that creep into the hidden home places, the gardens, farms, and the sequestered beauties of Nature. Morley Roberts tell us that W. H. Hudson, the naturalist, loved these by-paths, and that he sought out these, in preference to the "dusty and well-used highway." He also tells us that he loved to hunt out the neglected poets and forgotten writers.

Lafcadio Hearn was another writer who sought unusual and strange writers all over the world, and he wrote a book about them. In my own library are little books that I have picked up, here and there — books containing unusual facts and interesting data about life and people. One is a tiny book, nearly a hundred years old, about oysters. These may well be called the by-paths of literature.

Many of our books have small-type footnotes at the bottom of their pages. These are often passed by and left unread, but frequently they hold important clues and interesting data that should not be passed by. I have learned never to neglect them. They are the by-paths to a book.

Robert Frost illustrated this point in one of his most beautiful poems, entitled "The Road Not Taken." He said:

"Two roads diverged in a wood, and I—I took the one less traveled by, And that has made all the difference."

Many years ago my son and I took a trip through Nova Scotia, and when we crossed into Cape Breton Island I suggested that we leave the main roads and just take the winding, untraveled ones. This we did and they took us to the most interesting little settlements, islands, streams, and fishing villages. It was one of the happiest trips I have ever taken. Memories of Isle Madame, for example, remain vividly in my mind.

I read very few "best sellers." I stick to the classics—those which have proved the test of time. They may be termed the main roads in literature. And then I select the by-path writers, the unusual and neglected, like Mary Webb, Kay Boyle, R. B. Cunningham Graham, and Rumer Godden. The by-paths are never crowded!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "To Live Together"

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST
The Poet of the People
SIXTY-FIVE

He thought it was pleasure he really desired.

He dreamed of the day he could say: "I've retired!"

When young he looked forward (the young always do)

To the time he could wake with no task to renew.

And often when worried and troubled he'd say:

"At sixty-and-five I'll be able to play."

The day came at last when his labors were eased.

His dream had come true, but he wasn't so pleased

As he fancied he'd be, for he said with a sigh:

"Can it be that so soon five-and-sixty am I?"

And the company rule, from the ground to the top,

Is that men at that age all their duties must drop.

"I'm strong and I'm able, I'm still at my best,

And all that I need is a few weeks of rest.

My vision is clear and my hearing is good.

Work for twenty years longer I'm sure that I could.

That yearning for play was a youthful desire.

And sixty-and-five is too soon to retire."

HUGE LOSS OF STEEL BY STRIKE

New York, April 21 (AP)—Steel lost because of the coal miners' walkout will total more than 1,500,000 tons, the Iron Age, a trade publication, estimated.

The magazine said it had added 100,000 tons to an estimate made a week ago due to slowness of the miners to return to work.

Production this week, the Iron Age said, is 79 per cent of capacity, up 4.5 points from last week's revised rate of 74.5 per cent.

The magazine said the lost steel was enough to make 300,000 automobiles, 20,000 farm tractors, 200,000 each of refrigerators, stoves and washing machines, 1,000 miles of 20-inch oil pipe line, 10,000 freight cars and 14 oil tankers.

"The loss of steel because of the mine 'shutdown' the publication stated, 'is far more serious than generally supposed. Steel firms and their customers are this week realizing just how much distribution of steel has been knocked out of line.'"

Steel supply is now tighter than at any time in the past two years, the magazine said, because of the coal strike steel loss, the Marshall plan, and the certainty of defense requirements.

St. Louis began as an American town of 1,000 in 1803 when President Jefferson made the Louisiana Purchase from Napoleon.

GUY A. LEADER

State Senator Leader is a farmer operating more than five hundred acres of land in Dover, York County, in association with his sons. Their specialty is the breeding of White Leghorn poultry and the production of baby chicks. In this field they have achieved national prominence, through the record established by their Leghorn hens in Official State Laying Tests, having attained the highest average egg production of any Leghorn breeder in the United States.

A fine breeding herd of Aberdeen Angus cattle is also maintained. A large acreage is planted to corn, wheat and grass for hay.

Leghorn breeding was begun by Mr. Leader with 67 breeding hens in 1911, a time when commercial poultry keeping was in its infancy. By employing the newest findings in breeding, feeding and management the Leader flocks of poultry grew in numbers and efficiency until this farm is recognized as one of the nation's best. Today the Leader Farms hatch about three-quarters of a million baby chicks a year and their breeding flocks contain 14,000 chickens.

Guy A. Leader was born on a farm and with the exception of a period of ten years, when his parents left the farm to make their home in one of York County's boroughs, he has continued to live on a farm. In addition to training received in public schools he was educated in the York Collegiate Institute. He taught ten terms in the public schools of York County while residing on a farm and operating it to supplement the wages received as a teacher. Since 1915 all his time has been devoted to farming. In 1929 he was named a Master Farmer in recognition of his outstanding record in agriculture, a coveted honor in that field.

Senator Leader is married to the former Beulah Boyer. They are the parents of seven children, four sons and three daughters. Four of these children are college graduates. A fifth child will be graduated from college in June and the youngest daughter is attending college where she is a member of the sophomore class. Two of the sons served in the armed forces of the United States during World War II. One in the Navy, the other in the Army, both having been in foreign service.

Senator Leader is a Mason, a Rotarian and a Lutheran. He is serving his second term in the State Senate as the member from the 28th District, comprised of York County. He was elected first in 1943 with the largest majority given any candidate in that election, and was re-elected in 1946. His record in the Senate has been one of service to all the people. It is this record that makes him a "natural" for the Congressional post. For this reason the leaders of the Democratic party in the three counties comprising the district, persuaded him to become a candidate for the nomination.

The eating, of course, is to be done by someone else with the scouts to derive the profits therefrom and use those profits for their camping trips when the weather becomes warmer and schools close down for the long vacation between May and September.

The Rev. George S. Stoneback, chairman of the scout committee, said today that the Boy Scouts are to be given stamps toward camp for each ticket they sell for the chicken and ham supper to be held Saturday afternoon and evening, starting at 4:30 o'clock at the Cashtown fire hall. The scout who sells the most tickets will get, in addition to the stamps for each ticket to the meals sold, a whole block of stamps, which will just about guarantee his trip to scout camp for this year.

"The stamps are a dime each and like most scout troops the members have been accumulating stamps for some time. When they have filled a book with stamps the book is turned in to scouting headquarters and the youngster is paid up for his camping trip this summer."

Similarly with the Girl Scouts, profits they may make from the supper will go toward the summer's camping trips.

State Legion Head Would Outlaw Reds

York, Pa., April 21 (AP)—James F. O'Neil, National Commander of the American Legion, called last night for an outlawing of the Communist party in America.

The Legion head at the same time emphasized that America must remain stronger than it has ever been before, and urged immediate building of the largest airforce in the world.

"We intend to fight for dignity and honor," O'Neil told a Legion gathering, adding: "I want peace,

IMPORTANT TO IDENTIFY CALVES

Dairymen are becoming conscious of the need to identify properly young calves in the herd.

County agent M. T. Hartman points out that one of the better methods of identification is with ear tags. These are available to all dairymen in dairy improvement association or artificial breeding groups.

Many D. H. I. A. members are interested in proven sire and herd analysis work. For this work D. H. I. A. and artificial breeding ear tags, registration numbers, and Bureau of Animal Industry tags are acceptable. Private tags and tattoo markings cannot be used on a nation-wide basis because of too much duplication, but may be used to advantage within an individual herd.

Regardless of the methods used, the calf identification must include the birth date and the identity of sire and dam, or the calf identification will not mean very much.

This is essential for herds which do D. H. I. A. testing work so that complete records can be kept. It is impossible to prove sires and trace cow families without proper identification of all animals. Artificial breeding herds must keep careful records to avoid inbreeding of animals.

Interesting News Of Upper Adams Countians And Their Enterprises

MUCH DAMAGE TO FRUIT BY COLD WEATHER

Upper Adams fruit growers, with three more "dangerous" weeks ahead of them, today reported the fruit situation "confused" but added that their investigations so far showed much damage to fruit from recent cold spells.

Some growers reported their cherry crop completely wiped out, peach crop prospects "fair" and apple prospects a little better than fair.

One grower cut 100 buds in his orchard near Bendersville and found all of them dead. The same grower reported "Fair prospects" for peaches and reported that he had found quite a number of the center buds frozen in his apple orchards, enough to reduce his chances for a good crop by 50 per cent, he said.

Low Orchards Suffer
Reports showed orchards lying in valleys hardest hit by the recent frost which occurred on a dead calm day held in the valleys longer than on the hills.

Some growers reported finding little damage so far to their trees, while some refused to make any prediction as yet concerning how much their crops may have been hurt.

With the next three weeks usually among those considered most dangerous by growers, because of the possibility of freezing weather, few were too optimistic about the prospect at the present time for a good crop.

One grower pointed out: "It is much too early to decide yet. I had some damage from cold weather and probably will have more before we reach the period where all we have to fear is hail, wind storms, and insects and fungus diseases, not to mention what the price for fruit might be."

Another grower, taking a pessimistic view, held that "even if we do not lose the crop before we harvest, we probably will lose money when we sell it anyway."

Good Practice To Roll Sod Fields

Rolling sod fields, which are to be mowed for hay, in the spring before the ground gets hard accomplishes several purposes, points out County Agent M. T. Hartman. This practice, he says, once was regular routine on many well-managed, good farms.

Where clover and alfalfa have been heaved out by freezing and thawing spring rolling presses some of the soil back around the roots. It, of course, does not push the plants into the ground.

Rolling also pushes back into the soil stones which have been heaved up by freezing. This very greatly reduces damage to mowing machines and to hay choppers.

Warns Against Early Weaning

The bigger the pig at weaning time, the more efficient use it makes of feed from then on, reminds County Agent M. T. Hartman. Pigs eight weeks or older at weaning gain more rapidly than pigs weaned earlier.

The breeding program usually determines the age for weaning. Ordinarily when two litters of pigs are raised, each litter can stay with the sow eight or nine weeks. If the sow is not re-bred, the pigs may stay with her 12 to 14 weeks or until she can no longer nurse them.

Long nursing periods increase the income from the sow and produce stronger pigs. Too often, the county agents say, pigs are weaned at four to five weeks in the mistaken notion this is economical.

'RAIN CHECK' SYSTEMS PAY

Spring is "rain check" season in baseball — and on Adams county farms, County Agent M. T. Hartman said, adding that farmers are adopting simple practices for checking the runoff of spring rains.

This serves a double purpose, he added. The more rainfall that can be held on the land, the more moisture available later when needed to nourish growing crops. Also, with less runoff there will be less washing — less soil erosion.

Under "rain check" practices, rows cross slopes on the contour, as contrasted with field-farming where often rows run with the slope and serve as channels for the swift flow of surface water.

By limiting contour rows to narrow "fields" or strips — not too wide, and alternating these strips with others in small grain or hay sods, washing seldom gets a chance to start, even when the rainfall is very heavy. Alternate strips serve as checks.

County Agent Hartman says strips

Strawberries Came Thru Winter Well

Barring a late freeze, strawberry prospects are bright in Pennsylvania, the State Department of Agriculture announced following a recent Federal-State survey.

Strawberry plants came through the winter in good shape where the growers had supplied adequate mulch for cold weather. Snow cover gave protection in most sections for the greater part of the winter, especially when temperatures were extremely low, farmers told the Department.

80 to 100 feet wide are doing a good job in assisting Adams county farmers to keep their topsoil at home. Any who are planning contour layouts for erosion control, and need some guidance to get started, may have such assistance from him for the asking, says the county agents.

This is only one of many services available to farm people through the Agriculture Extension service. The county agent may be reached at the Agricultural Extension office at the court house in Gettysburg.

HOLSTEIN HERDS ARE CLASSIFIED

Two Adams county Holstein breeders have had their herds classified for type under the program of the Holstein Friesian Association of America, W. A. Weeks, North Claradon, Vt., was the official classifier. This is a part of the group classification being conducted by the Penna. Holstein Association in the southeastern counties of Pennsylvania.

Walter Hay had nine head classified which included: one very good, one good plus, four good and five fair for an average score 76.6.

E. A. Weaver had 22 classified for the first time. His herd also contains 19 others that had previously been classified giving him a herd score of 79.0. His herd includes: four very good, 16 good plus, 15 good

WHEAT CROP FORECAST

First estimates of wheat production from Pennsylvania farms this year was given as 20,874,000 bushels in an announcement by the state Department of Agriculture after a Federal State survey as of April 1.

Although the planted acreage this season is 994,000 acres, a five per cent increase over plantings for the 1947 crop, production estimates put the 1948 crop about 1,400,000 bushels less than last year, but about the same amount greater than the 10-year average, 1937-1946.

and six fair.

The purpose of classification is to bring out the good families in the herds for the improvement of type in the herd.

REDS SUFFERED GREAT DEFEAT IN ITALY VOTE

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Anti-Communist forces appear to have won a smashing victory for freedom in the Italian national elections—a victory likely to have a far-reaching influence on the cold-war between Russia and the democracies.

The returns aren't complete at this writing, but Premier Alcide de Gasperi's Christian democrats and other right wing parties have sufficient lead so that vice premier Saragat has announced "the Communists will not be admitted into Italy's new government."

If that proves to be true it will represent a sensational defeat for the numerically greatest Communist party outside Russia. Saragat, head of the Anti-Red Socialists, interpreted the upset thus:

"The Italian election means a rebirth of democracy in Europe. The victory of democratic forces is a great setback to Russia and Communist plans for expansion. Italy is now a part of western Europe and not of the Balkans."

Danger Of Revolt

That's what we like to read, but let's temper our exultation with a bit of caution. Even if final returns bear out the present estimate, we mustn't overlook this:

Until Italy's first full-fledged post-war parliament meets next month and elects a new president there will be danger of a Bolshevik revolt. Communist leader Togliatti has promised that the Reds won't use force—but observers aren't making any bets on such assurance. Saragat himself warns that "the election doesn't mean the final defeat of Communism in Italy," adding:

"This is more difficult because the Communists cannot be fought by police measures, but only through social measures. The Communist party will remain strong here as it is today in France."

Nearer Freedom

However, if present returns bear out their promise, Bolshevism has been soundly thrashed in the first big show-down outside Russia's eastern European zone where the Reds have imposed their will by force.

That's mighty encouragement for the rest of western Europe—and for the countries of the western hemisphere where the Reds are boring in through their fifth columnists. Italy has given a fine exhibition of courage.

Naturally the promises of the American program have had much to do with persuading the Italian people to revolt against Communism. And, as this column pointed out in advance, the Vatican has played a major role in sending voters to the polls.

Italy is now nearer real freedom than she has been since Mussolini took over and inaugurated police rule in 1922. If she now can consolidate her victory over Bolshevism, she will become a vital base for the forces of democracy. She guards the southern flank of western Europe.

This encourages the belief that Communism may be held along its present line through central Europe. If the Reds can be stopped there, it will be a powerful deterrent to another world war.

From 1939 to 1945, Canada's total production more than doubled the pre-war level from 5.1 to 11.75 billion dollars.

Harrisburg, April 21 (AP)—Carl C. Tinstman, of Johnstown, former deputy secretary of Forests and Waters, was named by Gov. James H. Duff to a new post in the State Revenue department.

The governor said last night he appointed Tinstman as an assistant to W. H. Beachy, deputy Secretary of Revenue. Beachy heads the Bureau of Investigation and Collections.

PETER WIDENER, SPORTSMAN, DIES

Philadelphia, April 21 (AP) — Peter A. B. Widener, 2d, millionaire financier of show dogs and race horses, is dead at 52.

He died of a heart ailment yesterday in Lankenau hospital after a long illness. He had entered the hospital about three weeks ago after having undergone treatment in Maine and Florida.

The sportsman and philanthropist was the son of the late Joseph E. Widener, multimillionaire art collector and race track owner, and the grandson of P. A. B. Widener, financier and transit magnate.

The world famous Widener art collection, which has been valued up to $50,000,000 is now in the National Art Gallery in Washington.

Widener took an early interest in dogs. He began with German police dogs, with his "Dolf" becoming a many times champion.

He later switched to horse racing — his father's favorite diversion. His father had been principal owner of both the Hialeah track in Miami and Belmont park in New York.

Widener is survived by his widow, a son, P. A. B. Widener, 3d, and a daughter, Ella Anne. Funeral services will be held Friday at 4 p. m. from the Church of the Redeemer in Bryn Mawr. Burial will be private.

The Romans used iron betrothal rings as early as the second century B. C.

The topic, "The Most Important Publication of 1946," was in charge of Richard Mehrling, who also offered prayer. A business session followed the offering and Miss Anna Mae Blah was appointed leader for next Sunday evening. The meeting closed with the Christian Endeavor benediction.

The site of this home is in Union township, a short distance east of the borough line and was a portion of the Herbert Zepp farm. It is on the north side of the Littlestown-Hanover highway.

Mrs. Luther Myers, organist and Mrs. Harold Rife, assistant organist, will present a recital Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock on the Consonata electric organ which has been placed in the auditorium of St. John's Lutheran church. The pastor, the Rev. Kenneth D. James, is very anxious that as many of the members of the congregation and organizations as possible should be present at this recital as a vote will be taken at a congregational meeting on Sunday morning on the purchase of this organ. The public is also cordially invited.

Wonder Minerals

RHEUMATISM, arthritis are dreadful diseases. Acid condition in the blood is often their cause. What could be the remedy? For thousands of years, minerals have been used to relieve the pain and suffering of these ills. People, on the advice of doctors, go to mineral springs to find cure, or relief. The late President Roosevelt used to go to Warm Springs in Georgia. He was helped or would not have gone there regularly twice a year. YEAR after year, people rush to mineral springs and spas, to drink and bathe in their miraculous water. We have all heard of the wondrous springs of Lourdes, France, and famous Thonon in ancient Greece where, according to legend Hercules, the god of eternal strength and youth, drank its waters and bathed to be forever young.

Amazing Results

BIO-MINERAL contains minerals you get at the world's best springs. Watch your elimination from your bowels a day or two after using it. The waste, black as the color of your shoes, will start to break away, and you will SEE it. Also examine your urine. You may see impurities—poisonous waste—coming out of your kidneys, relieving you. And then realize the priceless value of BIO-MINERAL.

BIO-MINERAL is not a physic and does not interfere with the foods in the stomach. It cleans and purifies the intestines, thoroughly relieving gas, toxins, acids, and bloating. After these poisons are out of the system and the kidneys purified, we begin to feel the arthritis and rheumatism leaving, and Nature starting to complete the recovery.
